

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to the composition of fresh concrete and admixtures for fresh concrete and can be used in the construction industry for producing monolithic and precast concrete and reinforced concrete structures, in spraying mixtures and also in the oil extraction industry when producing injection and insulation cement materials.